Teachers' Salary Rates For Next Year Agreed Upon

Single Standard Salary Scale For New Castle School Teachers Adopted

TAX LEVY STAYS AT TWENTY MILLS

Meeting Thursday night, a committee of the New Castle School Board and a committee of teachers, representing the entire instructional force of the public schools agreed upon a salary schedule for 1947-48; agreed upon a basis for a single standard salary scale; and at the conclusion, the board committee announced the tax levy would remain at twenty mills, with a budget total of $1,752,068.

The board committee agreed to establish a single salary schedule running from a minimum of $1600 to a maximum of $2500 for all teachers, with a bonus of $200 for all teachers having a master's degree. This meets the "equal pay for equal qualification" request.

RAISE OF $300

For 1947-48 every teacher will get a "cost-of-living" increase of $300 over the established salary scale. This means a minimum of $1900 for beginners, and a maximum of $3000 for teachers having eight years' experience and a master's degree. The maximum for those not holding master's degrees will be $2700.

The actual "cost-of-living" increase over that of 1946-47 is $110, the board having granted $190 this year. The same single salary standard idea for substitutes will be carried out. All of them will get $9 per day. This year the high school substitutes get $9 per day and the elementary teachers $8.

Clerks, janitors and other permanent employees outside the professional employees will get $25 per month increase over their base, which means

Traffic route signs were being replaced by State Highway department workmen at the intersection of East Washington street and Croton avenue Thursday afternoon. Pa New observed. The work was in connection with the department's spring renovation program.

Some of the other states of the country which issued license plates April 1 for the year are still clinging to one plate this year again. Pa New notes. Several machines from distant states carried only one 1947 plate on the vehicles.

A Scott township woman reported a flock of wild geese winging north Thursday afternoon, usually a good harbinger of Spring. Pa New noticed two robins shivering in the snow and cold this morning, however, evidently perplexed at the winter entrance of the "mild" season, and regretting their early migration from the sunny South.

Teen age youths from some of the elementary schools of the city are inviting trouble and possible injury on the streets of the city. Some of the boys are noted in various strategic locations standing out in the curbs of the streets attempting

Britain's Trouble

On top of all their other difficulties and disasters, including the spirit of this patient, proud and long-suffering people. By the beginning of the winter of 1946 the British have just emerged from a new series of catastrophes. Roaring gales, torrential rains and melting snows flooded fields and contaminated water supplies and killed hundreds of thousands of sheep in a nation already desperately short of food.

It almost seems as though the fates had conspired to break the spirit of this patient, proud and long-suffering people. By the beginning of the winter of 1946 the British had already lived through six years of war, air raids, cold and hunger. They came out of war so impoverished that their one chance of regaining their economic strength was to ship most of their output abroad and continue their wartime sacrifices.

After the past terrible winter with its acute fuel shortages, its blizzards and now its floods, the British people must be near the breaking point. A less stubborn and courageous people would have given in to despair long ago in the face of these repeated blows. But the spirit which carried the British to such heights has not failed them yet, although their days of domination and of empire are now visibly past.

Plowing

Plowing is an act of faith. In the spring men go forth to turn the sod in preparation for another season. Many a good countryman pushes the plow point down for the first furrow feeling that it is a movement of almost reverent significance. As teams plow across the land or tractor chugs its steady way, the long coldly-moist slices curl away from the shining share in long ribbons.

No longer do men pride themselves on geometrically exact patterns. Good farmers plow in contours now, part of the battle to restore the good earth to its former fertility. But whatever the pattern plowing is symbolical. And when a man rests his team for a few minutes at furrow's end and looks over the spring landscape, he has confidence that in good time the warmth and moisture will bring his seeds to fruition in another harvest time.

Wheat's Ups And Downs

The erratic course of wheat futures prices on the Chicago and other grain exchanges is a reflection of the pattern of thinking on the probabilities of the months ahead. The price of March wheat shot up to more than $3 a bushel, the highest quotation in 30 years, at Chicago as reports piled up of damage to the winter wheat in Europe by the severe winter, and international relations seemed to go from bad to worse.

This was followed by a decline in quotations that coincided with a more realistic appraisal of world-wide events and rather widespread predictions that there can be no wheat shortage unless there is an unforeseen crop failure in the United States.

But nobody expects wheat prices to decline to the levels of a year ago, which were 100 per cent higher than the figures of the years immediately preceding the war. Wheat will remain at high levels until there is a world surplus, and that is not in sight.

If another bumper crop is harvested, wheat farmers of the United States will receive near-record prices for it this year. And the general level of prosperity will parallel the prosperity of the farmers. It should also be pointed out that it would be a tradition-shattering development if there were a general decline in prices of other commodities and products while the price of wheat remains high.

Speedier Promotion

In some respects, if not in all, the Army and Navy are showing a commendable willingness to profit by the experience of the war. The reforms in Army justice and the erasing of many of the sharp distinctions between officers and men are two changes on the credit side. To them may now be added the plans of both services to revise and improve their systems of promotion.

Before the war the traditional method of promotion in both services was by seniority rather than by merit. The way to get ahead was to serve patiently and offend no one. Those who were lucky might rise to be general or an admiral shortly before they were retired. This system had several major defects.

It was tough on morale; it discouraged initiative and innovation; it kept men far down in the rank during their most vigorous and productive years. Finally, it meant that the posts of top responsibility and command were filled almost exclusively by aging men nearing the end of their careers. It took the war with its great demands and enormous expansion of both services to bring rapid promotion, chiefly by merit.

The Navy was first to move to put promotion permanently on this basis. The Army is now following the example. If bills now before Congress are approved, the log-jam in the upper ranks will be cleared by the retirement of officers who fail to earn promotion. Advancement in the lower ranks will be more rapid and officers will rise to command ranks at a younger and more vigorous age.

It is difficult to think of a reform which promises to be more beneficial to both services in the long run.

What a future war may be like is indicated by announcement that a device is now available which will slice bread to one-tenth the thickness of a present slice.

If a bill introduced in Congress to bar communist literature from the mails passes, pity the poor postal clerks. They will have to read a lot of rot to determine whether it is communistic.

WASHINGTON CALLING

CHILDS

Discusses Behavior Of Organized Labor

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Behind closed doors the members of the Senate Committee on Labor are arguing day after day about what kind of labor bill is to be finally reported to the senate. Some committee members are a little cynical about this long-drawn-out process because they feel certain what the end result will be.

Before they settled down to arguing about the kind of law to be approved, the committee debated the question of an expert consultant who should help draft the legislation. Sen. Joseph H. Ball of Minnesota with the backing of Chairman Robert A. Taft, had proposed a former New Deal lawyer, Gerard Reilly.

For four years Reilly was solicitor in the Department of Labor under Secretary Frances Perkins. In 1941, President Roosevelt made him a member of the National Labor Relations Board. In later years Reilly dissented from the majority of the board and for his dissents he was savagely attacked by the unions, particularly by the CIO.

Raised Objection

When Reilly's name was proposed to the Senate Labor Committee, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon raised a mild objection. He said it was his understanding that Reilly was the author of Senate Bill 360, which bears Ball's name and which makes drastic changes in the Wagner Labor Relations Act. Morse argued that, since Reilly was the proponent of one of the measures to be considered, it was not proper to select him as an impartial consultant.

"That is not correct," Ball replied. "The ideas in 360 are mine. I had Mr. Reilly's help in drafting that bill."

There was some further discussion. Democrats on the committee supported Reilly. At last a vote was taken. Three Republicans voted against Reilly. They were Morse, Ives of New York and Aiken of Vermont.

Some days earlier, in a lengthy speech on the Senate floor, Morse had analyzed the labor bills to be considered by the committee. He spoke out of his years of experience as a teacher of law and his practical experience as a member of the War Labor Board. That speech, set in the framework of Morse's liberal philosophy, was on a very high level.

Points Out Dangers

A considerable part of it was devoted to pointing out the dangers which Morse sees in Bill 360. He called it "an attempt to repeal the Wagner Act by emasculation." The point that Morse made repeatedly, as he went over sections of the bill, was that it would substitute government power for free collective bargaining. The Ball Bill, according to Morse, would destroy the right to strike.

Toward the close of his speech, Morse introduced his own amendments to the Wagner Act. These would outlaw jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. They would expand the National Labor Relations Board from three to seven members to take care of the greatly increased burden of cases. Employers would be guaranteed their constitutional right to freedom of speech. And the NLRB would be permitted to go into federal court to enjoin either employers or employees where the board was convinced that nothing else would do.

Anything beyond this will put labor relations in a government strait-jacket, as Morse sees it. He has considerable support for his point of view in the committee. But those who will support what he says is the maximum legislation necessary to correct present abuses have no illusions.

Will Ignore Recommendation

Even if they get a 7 to 6 committee vote for the mild as opposed to the "drastrical" proposal, they know the Senate will ignore this recommendation. The votes of Republicans, plus Southern Democrats, will make Senate Bill 360 or something very much like it, the law of the land.

The House is likely to be even more hard-boiled. As of today, the labor legislation coming out of the 80th Congress promises to change the pattern of industrial life in America. Whether it will produce more strikes, more strife, more bickering, or whether it will create industrial peace, the nation will soon learn.

In the face of this almost certain eventuality, organized labor is behaving with the same ostrich-like stupidity that has characterized the labor movement in recent years. Morse is being berated for his mild proposals. Labor leaders accuse him of favoring compulsory arbitration. By agreeing to the mild proposals, there is just a chance that labor might avert the fate of government control. But such a strategic move is apparently beyond the grasp of the present leaders of labor.

Those who worry about the secret agreement of Yalta should turn to the books of Elliott for comfort.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In a recent Broadway play, quite mediocre as a whole, there is, nevertheless, a very good line.

"If we want to make history," says the leading man to the leading lady, "instead of repeating it, we must be brave, because we are citizens first and veterans second."

That is a very excellent maximum for millions of us to remember.

I am all in favor of honoring our veterans.

We should give them first call on homes, on jobs, on opportunities to make up for lost time.

But we should not coddle our veterans so much that, instead of being brave and being citizens, they become soft and spoiled.

The war is over. The uniform has been hung in the closet.

The medals and ribbons are not just gewgaws to be shown off to admiring visitors, but grim reminders of brave deeds done and agonies suffered.

In a complex operation like operating an automobile, fatigue is a considerable importance. We recognize that when we are tired we cannot play games requiring a combination of quick thought and muscular coordination as well as when we are fresh. The competent driver applies this knowledge to his driving and slows down when he is tired. Through reduced speed he compensates for the effect of fatigue.

You are tired, I know. You need a rest. You need time to get back into the civilian swing.

But yours is the task to make history.

And yours is the job to remember that you are "citizens first and veterans second."

That way, and only that way, lies the America of tomorrow for which you fought and for which you became veterans.

Bible Thought

And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book. Revelation 22:19.

With this experience so recently recorded, it would seem stupid to hold a prolonged conference in Moscow without definite assurance of real progress toward agreement on fundamentals. Also, it would seem that unless agreement in principle is reached after a month of daily contacts and negotiations, it would not be reached in two months or more, and that a prolonged conference will result merely in a repetition of the atomic energy negotiations in New York. Nobody wants that. If and when futility of further argument has become clear, there is no sense in General Marshall wasting further time and energy.

Of course, it is hoped that point will not be reached in this conference; but once he has convinced himself that there is no reasonable chance for agreement and that no self-respecting concession or compromise is possible, what the country would approve, is for our Secretary of State, in effect, to say: "Well, gentlemen, after a full month with no progress, and with no prospect of progress, we are withdrawing and going back to Washington. We will carry on from there, do the best we can. Good-bye." And then come home. This is, it is thought here, is exactly what he will do.

There seems nothing to lose by this course. And there might be something gained. Negotiations can always be renewed when the outlook for agreement is better.

The other course has been pursued without success. There is a limit.

And around that corner we might find the solution for international peace. There seems to be something definite on the fire now . . . all the brains are sitting around in proper order . . . and if they can't work out the problem then no group can. But it will take more than a handful of men to keep people . . . will keep every person in the world . . . constantly working toward the goal . . . to keep peace. Clear thinking . . . it seems that if each nation would mind its own business . . . the type of government it has, we mean by own business . . . things wouldn't be so bad.

Here in the United States we like the present form of government that we have . . . and personally I resent anyone or any group that attempts to change our free way of thinking, speaking and worshiping.

Dictatorship is criminal and anyone who says different should be put in a straight jacket. No other nation in the world lives like you and you do . . . and no other nation can ever live like we do here in the USA . . . because they do not enjoy the freedoms that we enjoy. On the other hand . . . if our forefathers had worked the hours that some people today want to work . . . where would this nation be today? You know the answer . . . if you are truthful with yourself . . . and if you can't be truthful with yourself . . . what can you expect out of life?

Big Four Parley Will Not Drag Out

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.

IT IS the belief of the ablest men here who either have participated in, or closely followed the various international conferences since the launching of the United Nations in San Francisco, that the Moscow Conference, momentous as it is, will not last more than a month. Those who, in addition, know Secretary of State Marshall well, are sure of it.

THIS conference, they insist, is not going to drag on for three months as did the Paris Conference. It is not going to be prolonged if and when its futility has become established—as have some of the others. On the contrary, this meeting is either going to make real progress in a month or it is going to adjourn. The basis of this conviction is knowledge of the quality and clarity of General Marshall's thinking. This does not mean that he will be any less patient or more belligerent than Mr. Byrnes, Mr. Baruch and others. It does not mean that he will be more demanding than they, more easily exasperated or more quickly exhausted. It does mean that, like any intelligent man, he is bound to consider situations in the light of experience of those who have preceded him.

SINCE the war ended, the present Secretary of State has seen conference after conference prolonged beyond all reasonable length—and end in very little. Just before he left Washington last week, there occurred the most convincing of all demonstrations of the utter futility of conferring after all the arguments have been made, met and answered

New Revelations On Communists To Be Presented

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(INS)—Rep. Thomas (R) N. J., chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, disclosed that "secret documents" of the State Department containing new revelations of communist party activities will be made public today. Thomas declined to divulge the details, but indicated the documents would prove highly sensational.

He said they would be made public at a hearing today at which the committee will weigh contempt proceedings against Leon Josephson, New York attorney.

Thomas also refused to disclose the identity of four witnesses before the hearing. He declared: "To give out the names of the witnesses would put some of them in danger."

Battle In Korea On Communism Being Planned

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Top level planners in the State, War and Navy departments today charted a program extending the government's "stop communism" drive to Korea where there is a major clash of American and Russian interests.

It was disclosed that the United States plans to restate America's position in the Far East, with special emphasis on Korea. Observers expected the program in Korea to cost between 200 and 500 million dollars.

There was as yet no decision as to whether the restatement of Far Eastern policy would await the return to Washington of Secretary of State Marshall or be made soon. Belief was held that it would not be made at least until Congress has shown its disposition in the present Greek-Turkey crisis.

In any event, Marshall will have a hand in preparing the statement, not only because of his present position but because of his experience attempting to achieve peace between Nationalists and Communists in China which also may be brought into the "stop-communism" plan.

Nutrition Forum

At their regular meeting Thursday at the chapter house, N. Beaver street, members of the Red Cross board of the county heard a report on the recent nutrition forum which was held in Erie.

Report of the Erie meeting was given by Mrs. Paul Hoagland, instructor of home economics at the senior high school, and Miss Virginia Pieron, home economics supervisor at the Pennsylvania Power Company. Both acted as delegates from the Lawrence County chapter and are members of the nutrition committee.

Purpose of the meeting, it was explained, was to stimulate the interest of lay persons in nutritional work by exhibits and demonstrations. It is the hope of the local committee to hold a similar forum in New Castle in the near future.

Glenn J. Berry presided at the meeting in the absence of Dr. William E. Flannery, president of the board.

When you and I talk out we almost feel as if we were shooting peas against a battleship.

In the meanwhile, if you are convinced that your children should not hear certain radio programs, and still have control of your children, your immediate responsibility is obvious.

Commissioner Says Employer-Financed Policy Control By Unions 'Illegal'

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Insurance Commissioner James F. Malone, Jr., today planned to investigate what he termed "illegal" arrangements whereby group insurance policies financed by employers could be controlled by unions.

He advised insurance companies that group insurance policies could be issued only to parties bearing the cost.

His announcement stemmed from a ruling against an insurance contract between the Pittsburgh Hotels Association, composed of major Pittsburgh hosteries, and an AFL hotel workers union.

Under the agreement, four per cent of the monthly payrolls of the hotel would be turned over to the union's insurance committee which planned to use 2.7 per cent for purchasing group life, accident, health and hospital insurance for hotel workers and keep the balance as a reserve for designated purposes, Malone said.

He ruled the policy could not be issued in Pennsylvania because the agreement failed to "comply with the insurance laws of the commonwealth".

Malone said the payment to the insurance committee exceeding the cost of policies "does not create a healthy condition for the insurance business, honest and sincere as might be the intention of those entering into the agreement".

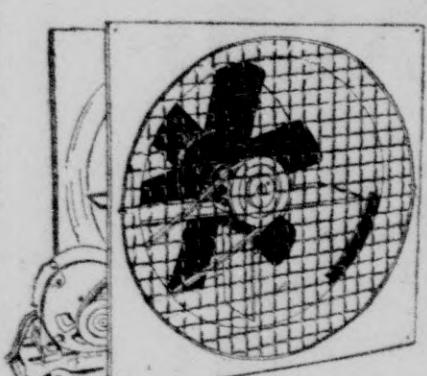

The goal of China's national government's new five-year road-building program is the construction of 18,430 miles of new highways. Main roads will be under the control of the central government, secondary roads will be administered by the provinces.

France To Block Talks On Germany For Coal Demands

MOSCOW, Mar. 21. — (INS) — France served notice Thursday that it will block any four-power agreement on major issues involved in Germany's economic future unless her demands for German coal first are satisfied.

French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the Big Four foreign ministers' council in Moscow:

"I am directed by my government to state that we can not be parties to an agreement on other problems raised—economic unity at the level of industry, reparations —without previous settlement of a scheme for exports of coal in a sense which is in conformity with our requests."

Shortly after the council ended its session this evening, a French delegation spokesman reinforced Bidault's statement with a warning that France would not hesitate to use its veto power, if necessary, to prevent major decisions of other issues if it fails to get assurances of coal desired.

American apple pie proved to be a top favorite dessert of United Nations delegates and staff members at Lake Success, New York.

Babson Discusses Labor And Wage Prospects Of '47

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1947, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Fla., Mar. 21.—The economic well-being of any country is largely determined by (a) the amount of food, homes, clothing, recreation, etc., which is produced by its people; and (b) the way these goods and services are divided up among you and me and our neighbors. If, therefore, we are prepared to be prosperous in 1947 we must produce. We cannot afford to lose another 110,000,000 man-days through some 6,027 strikes as we did in 1946.

Strikes On The Way

It is my belief that the struggle between management and labor has already begun to slough off. Of course, there will be continued demands for small wage increases. Where industries cannot afford further basic wage increases there will probably be demands for certain concessions as portal-to-portal pay, paid sick-leave, increased paid holidays, health and welfare funds, etc.

There is no question but that some of these demands are legitimate. The real trouble is that many of them are simply camouflage to cover up the real struggle between the unions, owner-management and the government for the control of industry. Knowing this, both employers and employees ought to muster every ounce of courage and common sense in order to negotiate wisely, not only for their own mutual benefit but for the ultimate preservation of our American way of life.

Reasons For Labor's Change In Attitude

While strikes will remain a nuisance, a thorn in the flesh, if you will, of industry throughout 1947, the fact remains that the incidence of strikes has tumbled appreciably since November (July 20, September 541, November 477, December 228, January 191). I attribute this change for the better to:

(a) the fact that price controls have been lifted, which allows a greater latitude for bargaining;

(b) the political complexion has changed considerably in recent months;

(c) a warning handwriting is very clearly upon the wall for future strikers. Messrs. Green, Lewis and Murray all have sense enough to know that under present conditions continued belligerence and aggression can only lead to public hostility and a possible immediate retaliation from the new Congress. In the light of these trends I predict that 1947—much to the surprise of many employers and employees alike—may see the next critical labor disputes since 1939.

Wage Outlook For 1947

As a result of this return to normalcy there have been during December and January some wage increases for workers in the trucking, clothing stores, cotton textiles, printing, painting, plumbing and shipping industries. You can expect that where unrest continues, the greatest pressure for wage increases and fringe concessions will probably come from the shipping industries, motion pictures, chemicals, household furnishings, radio and metal fabricating. Reason: The desire of the unions to share the reportedly high profits in these businesses.

Frankly, I am not now too concerned over this upheaval. I believe that after union labor has secured real power, it will find that its employers are better friends than its labor leaders. Labor will not give up collective bargaining and certain other privileges; but it will listen more to the advice of its resident employers than it ever did before. This means that when the liberal interests are faced with full responsibilities, they become much more conservative and demand "checks and balances" for their own protection.

The Need For the Practice Of Basic Principles

Bear in mind these truths, however: Three fundamental economic principles must be understood before we can realize any true measure of prosperity. These are: (1) Only by increasing our national production will there be more to divide; (2) Our true national income can be increased most readily by extending free enterprise with a minimum of interference by government bureaucrats. (3) The masses are on the march and we should not handicap legitimate desires to better their condition.

Building Organization Head Shows

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—(INS)—A young Pittsburgh housewife, who looks like a cover-girl but doubles as a construction boss, is showing builders how to construct low-cost houses.

Mrs. Eulah H. Rousseau, 24-year-old head of the building organization, shows engineers and architects the way to produce up-to-date houses by mass production methods.

The homes, selling for $8,650, have many modern conveniences which usually are installed only in higher priced houses. And all units of her 48-home project in a Pittsburgh suburb are designed from a woman's angle for "comfort and liveability".

Mrs. Rousseau declared:

"Why shouldn't a woman say what adds most to a home? Women spend most of their time at home and they are the ones who use its good facilities and suffer from its bad points."

The young housewife explained that labor-saving methods are used in constructing the homes and savings in building costs are turned into "extra dividends inside the homes". Included in these "dividends" are an air-filtering system, automatic heating controls, rock wool insulation, copper plumbing and plenty of closets.

Mrs. Rousseau became interested in home-building after she was married and moved to Pittsburgh. Her husband, Marius, acts as construction engineer for the company and handles most of the field work—but his wife injects the woman's angle into the plans.

GIRLS ENTERING WOMANHOOD...

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—(INS)—This great medicine is famous to relieve pain, nervous distress and even to quiet out restless feelings, of certain days—when due to functional monthly disturbances by a senate sub-committee.

A spokesman pointed out the cost of living had increased approximately 40 per cent since the last salary adjustments were approved by the General Assembly in 1929.

Sponsored by Sen. John M. Walker (R) Allegheny, the measure would raise supreme court judges salaries from $19,000 to $26,000 and those of superior court jurists from $18,000 to $24,000.

Proportionate increases would be granted county judges.

Output Of Milk Declined In '46

Slump Due To Drop Of Thirty Pounds In Average Production Of Cow For Year

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—Milk production on Pennsylvania farms for the year 1946 totaled 5,318,000,000 pounds which was 85,000,000 under the all-time record of 5,404,000,000 in 1945, the State Department of Agriculture announced following revised estimates of the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service.

The 1946 decline is due to a drop of 30 pounds in the average production per cow for the year, the survey revealed. Officials pointed out that the average number of cows milked on Pennsylvania farms last year was 955,000 compared with 965,000 for the year previous. The high cost and scarcity of feeds during most of 1946 were contributing factors to lower total production, they said.

The average Pennsylvania dairy cow last year produced 5,570 pounds of milk compared with 5,600 the year before. In January of 1946 there were 954,000 cows on farms of the state and by December the number had increased to 961,000.

High Winds Hurt Winter Grain Crop

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—While snow provided much protection for winter grains and grass seedlings on Pennsylvania farms during February, high velocity winds swept the country from many fields, leaving plants exposed and subject to winter killing, the state department of agriculture reports following federal-state surveys of general farm conditions as of March 1.

Some damage was reported by farmers but in most areas of the state they indicate grains are in fair to good condition. Early March snows provided more protection but again the winds removed cover from exposed areas, the department said.

Charge Perjury In Garsson Case

Indictments Are Returned Against Henry M. Garsson And Freeman

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Perjury indictments were returned Thursday against Henry M. Garsson, head of the wartime Garsson munitions combine, and his Washington representative, Joseph F. Freeman.

The charges grew out of testimony before the District of Columbia grand jury which recently accused Garsson, his brother, Murray W. Garsson, Freeman, and former Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky of war frauds conspiracy.

In the new indictment, Garsson was alleged to have testified falsely regarding invoices involving the Cumberland Lumber Co., which May headed, and the Erie Basin Metal Products Co.

Freeman was declared to have testified falsely that he did not ask a Los Angeles businessman to contribute to a campaign fund for May, chairman of the House Military Affairs committee.

The Los Angeles man was identified as Edward D. Feldman, an official of the Atlas Carbon and Clay Corp.

The indictment asserted that Feldman on Oct. 6, 1944, gave Freeman a check for $1,000 and that Freeman sent the check to May.

The Garssons, May and Freeman are awaiting trial on the conspiracy charges.

May is alleged to have agreed to receive a total of $53,000 and "other compensation" in return for his efforts in behalf of the munitions firms in the Garsson "paper empire".

Attorney General Asks Court Ruling On Portal Pay Issue

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Attorney General Clark today asked the Supreme court to make a final and "definite" ruling on the portal-to-portal pay question as a matter of "public interest".

Half of the individual owners of the steel industry, 232,000, are women.

peal with the high tribunal from the Feb. 6 ruling of Federal district court justice Frank A. Pickard throwing out the portal pay claims of workers in the Mt. Clemens Pottery Co. plant at Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Clark did not express the government's agreement or disagreement with the lower court ruling.

He merely told the high court that the public interest would be promoted by "prompt settlement" of the scope of the "De Minimis doctrine" as applied to portal time under the Fair Labor Standards act.

GENERAL PLATOFF DON COSSACK CHORUS IN NEW CASTLE

TOMORROW NIGHT—DON'T MISS THEM!

The reputation of this band of Russian singers, who are sometimes picturesquely known as "the singing horsemen of the steppes", has preceded them wherever they have traveled—and they have traveled far in their peregrinations. In the years since their organization in 1920 they have given over 4,500 concerts throughout the world.

Under the leadership of their brilliant director Nicholas Kosrukoff, the Chorus has built up a repertoire that covers the field of Russian song—the beautiful liturgical music of the Russian-Orthodox Church, the exquisite haunting folk-melodies, to which they add the wild Gossack songs with their exciting mixtures of interspersed shouts and whistling.

Claim Br'er Fox Becoming Extinct

ATHENS, O., Mar. 21.—(INS)—"Br'er fox is on the decline".

That's the opinion today of Dr. Herschel T. Gier, Ohio University Zoology professor.

Gier is completing a six-year study of foxes in Ohio and results of his investigation show him that the fox isn't getting the proper diet.

Therefore, the normal fox litter of six has been reduced to an average of four and a half.

Up until a few years ago, Gier said, the fox was doing well for himself, but his favorite food—the rabbit—is in short supply. Consequently, the reproduction rate has dropped.

Greece Protests Report To U.N.

Declares U.N. Balkan Commission's Reports Is "Scandalously Biased"

By JOSEPH L. RANFT
(U.N. Staff Correspondent)

SALONIKA, Greece, Mar 21.—The Greek government blew the top off its smoldering feud with the United Nations Balkans commission today by dispatching a letter protesting that the group is "scandalously biased" against Greece.

The letter was addressed to the commission on the eve of its departure from Salonika to Sofia, Bulgaria. It was signed by Alexis Kyrou, Greek liaison officer.

The letter charged that the commission's press officer, Stanley Ryan, had sent to the U.N. security council by cable incorrect reports on the "Markos incident" and other acts against the Greek government.

"Markos Incident"

The "Markos incident" referred to the attempt of U.N. commission members to interview guerrilla leader, General Markos' inside rebel dominated territory in Northern Greece.

Commissioners representatives journeyed by mule deep into mountainous regions for a rendezvous to get the so-called general's views on the fight against troops of the regular Greek army.

After spending some time within the bandit-infested area without making contact with General Markos, the majority of investigators returned to Athens.

Ryan's reports were said to have been "definitely misleading and entirely incorrect in parts".

When shown a copy of his abled report, Ryan declared that it was "not the same as I cabled".

The cable was said to have pointed out that the failure of commission investigators to contact Gen. Markos resulted from actions of the Greek army. There were previous reports that the guerrilla leader feared that he might fall into a trap.

Florida Greek Colony Hopeful On U.S. Aid Plan

Have Aspiration That Aid Will Result In Formation Of Democracy

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TARPO SPRINGS, Fla., Mar. 21.—Three thousand members of the largest Greek colony in the world were hoping today that American aid to their native land will result in one thing—formation of a democracy.

Mike Samarkos, president of the Tarpon Springs Greek colony—founded by sponge divers of the Mediterranean—said:

"We like the word 'democracy.' We hope that a true democracy can be established in Greece. The people there don't want a king—nor do they want Communism. They want a democracy, and it would be a fine thing if America's help could show them the way."

The band of Greeks which comprise three-fourths of the population of the west coast Florida town, came to this country in 1905.

They brought with them the aged art of sponge diving and have made Tarpon Springs the largest sponge market in the world, surpassing the sponge ports of the Mediterranean.

Huge Industry

Sponging today at Tarpon Springs is a three million dollar industry. The Greeks also brought with them customs of the Mediterranean, and their section near the waterfront is like a bit of Greece transplanted.

They speak their native tongue, observe traditional rites and are the only colony in the world to celebrate epiphany just as it is celebrated in Greece.

At that time, January sixth, Greeks from all over the United States go to Tarpon Springs to join in the procession at the million dollar St. Nicholas church, headed by the jewel crowned Archbishop.

These sea-going Greeks are a culture-loving people and the majority of the day is spent by the youth in school. They attend the Tarpon Springs public school until the afternoon dismissal hour, and then go across the street to the Greek school, where they are taught the language, customs and history of their ancestral land.

Colorful Waterfront

The colorful waterfront, lined with Greek cafes noted for their rich foods, and looking out over the gaily-painted boats of the sponge fleet, attracts thousands of tourists during the winter season.

The demand for sponge today is greater than the supply. There are two ways of obtaining—hooking, which is not too profitable, and diving, the method introduced by the Greeks.

Although the casualty loss from diving is not high, the life of a sponge diver is shortened if he continues this work more than 10 years, the water pressure causing a type of paralysis.

A diver averaged around $10,000 per year.

Cherry Festival Planned In April In Washington

Americans everywhere will be given an opportunity this year to see the Nation's Number One Tourist attraction — Washington's famed Cherry Blossom and the Cherry Blossom Festival.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have announced that a Cherry Blossom Festival will be staged in Washington this year on April 12-13, the first celebration of this kind since 1941.

As in prewar celebrations great interest and enthusiasm is being shown among Washington residents and business men to make this program the successful affair it has always been and to make it appealing to tourists all over the country.

A United Nations theme will be carried through the entire two-day program and to accentuate this motif it is expected that there will be appropriate representation through costume, song and dance from each of the United Nations.

The high-light of this year's festivities, as in the past, will be the coronation of the Cherry Blossom Queen, who with her Court will reign in the beautiful Cherry Blossom setting while reviewing other planned activities including a water pageant on the Tidal Basin, band concerts by the Army, Navy and Marine Bands, a light opera presentation and military exhibitions.

U. P. Choirs Present Cantata On Sunday

On Sunday evening, March 30, at 8 o'clock in the Second U. P. church, the combined choirs of the Second and Third U. P. churches will give a repeat presentation of "The Crucifixion" by Sir John Stainer—a meditation on the Sacred Passion of the Holy Redeemer.

Among the sacred cantatas of Sir John Stainer, "The Daughter of Jairus" and "The Crucifixion" are in popular demand with church choirs.

Soloists for the occasion are Elmer Kanagy, tenor, and Delbert Fletcher, bass. Mrs. Miriam Shaffer will preside at the organ, and Mrs. Julie Zimmerman will accompany on the piano. D. Marshall Jones will direct the combined chorus.

Probe Deaths Of American And Japanese Girl

TOKYO, Mar. 21.—(INS)—U. S. army agents maintained unusual secrecy today in their continuing investigation of the strange poison deaths of Lt. Robert L. Wilson and Kiyoko Takodo, a beautiful Japanese girl.

Wilson, whose home was in Plymouth, Mass., and Miss Takodo were found dead March 14 in a small hotel near Tokyo, apparently the victims of a love-suicide pact.

Preliminary medical examination disclosed that both had swallowed lethal lotions of a poison noted for its swift action.

Despite army secrecy International News Service learned that fifth air force agents are not satisfied with the theory that the American airmen and the Japanese girl died together because they would soon part, perhaps forever.

A possibility that Wilson was murdered has entered the investigation and exhaustive medical and crime laboratory tests are being conducted to explore every angle of the murder theory. Post-mortem examinations of both bodies are expected to require another four days to complete.

Doubt Suicide Theory

Investigators were inclined to doubt the suicide theory because Wilson had never betrayed the slightest indication of despondency in any of his relations with fellow officers.

This doubt was bolstered by Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Plymouth, and by Miss Theresa Klassen of Charles City, Ia.

Mrs. Wilson declared, "my boy was murdered," and added that "every one of his letters made it plain he looked forward happily to the day he would marry Miss Klassen."

(Miss Klassen revealed that she received a letter from Wilson only last Tuesday. She said he had asked her to look around for a house that he hoped to be out of the army by April 25, and that they would be married when he returned home. "I can't believe it," she sobbed.)

The Japanese press meantime played up the apparent suicides of two other Japanese women and strongly hinted they died like a "Poor Butterfly" and because "never the twain shall meet".

The Tokyo Mainichi reported the discovery of the "drowned corpse of a beautiful woman" near the Atami resort center. Mainichi's dispatch said the drowning victim was "about 22" and that she carried a picture of "a lieutenant" in the breast pocket of her "western-style dress".

Another woman of about 25 was reported to have hurled herself from Atami cliff. Her broken body, discovered beneath the cliff, was said to have been clad in "western" clothing.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, March 21.—(INS)—Eddie Cantor is starring in his last movie.

He's told friends at RKO that in the future he'll confine himself to his radio work. Right now he's finishing up "If You Knew Susie".

Eddie does plan to make one more picture—one which will tell the story of his fabulous career. He's not doing this one for profit. He intends to put the proceeds into a trust fund for his children. Eddie will sing the songs which go into the picture, but, if he appears in it at all, it will be only briefly in the closing reels.

Just before Leo arrived in Hollywood Tuesday night, Laraine got a letter from him.

Leo wrote in effect:

"I'm going to play a good gag on Marty when I get there. I got an alligator wallet which is beautiful. I paid $35 for it but I'm going to tell Marty it cost me $200 and will be burned".

Laraine kept Leo's secret for a few hours and then broke down and told Marty.

He promptly went downtown, bought a cheap imitation alligator wallet and waited.

When Leo asked him for the $200, Marty pulled out his wallet and said:

"Oh, I didn't know you were going to buy one. I'm sorry I can't use it. I've already bought one".

Laraine's face fell, but Marty told him the truth later.

Incidentally, everybody pitched in so Laraine could complete her latest picture, "Tycoon", and leave with Leo for the Dodge training camp at Havana.

Crisis In France May Hinge On Talk Of Indo-China Truce

PARIS, Mar. 21.—(INS)—A possibility that the threatened government crisis in France can be averted was seen today in reports that a truce may be declared in the Indo-China fighting.

Premier Paul Ramadier has declared his government will stand or fall on the issue of supplying further funds for the fight by French colonials against rebellious Viet Nam forces in Indo-China.

A test vote of confidence was put off yesterday until Saturday.

Although sharp opposition principally by communists, developed in the national assembly, the predominantly Socialist National Council, or senate, unanimously approved liberal conditions aiming at a truce. Socialist circles remained pessimistic but cited the possibility that if unofficial contacts through Cochinchina result in an agreement in principle by tomorrow the present communist opposition would be removed and the whole parliamentary situation would be reversed.

Paris, Mar. 21.—(INS)—French press dispatches from Hanoi in Indo-China reported today that the French garrison at Hadong repulsed 700 Viet Nam troops after inflicting severe losses on the attackers.

Hadong is about seven miles southwest of Hanoi.

ROSE FESTIVAL

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—They'll bury an old superstition with smiles, fragrant roses and the music of marching bands Friday the 13th of June. The famous Rose Festival parade has been set for Black Cat Day.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Mar. 21.—(INS)—Two convictions against striking union members for alleging violence were listed today in municipal court records in connection with the long-drawn-out strike at the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plant.

The court fined two striking stewards $200 each yesterday on charges of overturning an automobile during a riot on a picket line near the plant October 28.

They are Robert Wartchow, 27, and Edwin Peters, 31, both members of Local 248, CIO-United Automobile Workers.

Consider Plan For Aid To Korea

Expect Cost To United States To Be From $250,000,000 To $500,000,000

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(INS)—State department sources revealed that aid to Korea, where there is a major clash of United States-Soviet interest, is under active consideration.

No final estimate of the cost of the United States has been made. But it is expected by those familiar with the situation to run between 250 million dollars and 500 million dollars.

This wide margin exists because it has not yet been determined to what extent United States must go to maintain order in the American zone nor it is certain the extent to which Congress is willing to appropriate funds.

Need Not So Immediate

However, the situation in Korea is considered on a par with the need in Greece and Turkey, although the urgency is not so immediate.

Those supporting the program jointly being prepared by the State, War and Navy departments on a top level, feel they have a strong arguing point in the fact that American forces are in occupation of the southern zone.

Officials in charge of occupied areas have strongly stressed the need for aid to Korea where American prestige is likely to tumble even further as a result of continued failure to unify the country.

The opening gun of the campaign for support of the Korean aid program was fired recently by Assistant of State John J. Hilldring, in charge of occupied areas. This was done in a speech delivered before the Economic club of Detroit ten days ago.

Since then the Korean question has been subordinated. General John R. Hodges, commander of the American zone, has been in this country to consult on the problem.

BRAND HOUSING PROGRAMS WITH SOCIALISM LABEL

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Public housing programs established by government were branded "a step toward Socialism" today by the Pennsylvania Real Estate Association.

President S. A. Gillespie contended that adequate homes could be built without a government housing program and claimed that "public housing puts controls into the hands of a centralized agency and in turn would give the government control over the tenants."

The largest aggregation of apple orchards in the British Dominions is found in Nova Scotia.

Farmers Plan To Cut Production Of Potato Crop

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—The American farmer, determined to prevent a repetition of last year's huge potato surplus, plans to cut 1947 potato acreage to the smallest since 1884.

An agriculture department survey of prospective plantings showed today that present plans call for two million, 310 thousand acres of potatoes in 1947, compared with two million, 625 thousand acres in 1946 and a 1936-45 average of two million, 945 thousand acres.

The decision to cut production was based on difficulties in marketing the record-high crop and to a "long-time downward trend" in potato acreage.

Plantings are expected to be less than 1946 in all states except Indiana and South Carolina. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa they are expected to be only about one-half of the 1936-45 average.

John Keble, author of the hymn, "Sun of My Soul, Thou Saviour Dear", was the great poet and one of the great preachers of the Oxford movement in the Church of England. Keble lived from 1792 to 1866.

Many Hospitals Under State Aid Deeper In Debt

Deficit Mounting Due To Free Care Dispensed And Lack Of Reimbursement

PHILADELPHIA, March 21.—(INS)—Many of the 168 state-aided hospitals in Pennsylvania are piling up operating deficits surpassing those of the depression years, according to the Hospital Association of Pennsylvania.

The association blamed the mounting losses on the great amount of free care provided by the institutions and the lack of adequate reimbursement.

Many hospital beds are occupied by non-paying patients, but the state pays the institutions for only 40 per cent of the cost of this care, the association reported.

A study of 16 state-aided institutions in Philadelphia showed they lost $570,762 by providing 131,068 free hospital days within the six months ending last November 30, the report added. They lost another $250,323 in free clinic and dispensary treatments.

The association is urging a total appropriation for the next two years of $22,900,000, compared with the $8,735,550 state-aid appropriation of the last two years.

The group said it needs that much money to provide for the estimated 2,800,000 free hospital days that will be called for in the next two years as well as 5,000,000 free clinic and dispensary visits made during that time.

Eleventh Hour Effort To Avert Rubber Strike

AKRON, O., Mar. 21.—(INS)—Heads of the CIO-United Rubber Workers of America will hold an eleventh-hour meeting tomorrow in Cleveland in an effort to avert a threatened strike in the rubber industry.

L. S. Buckmaster, president of the union, said in Akron that the international executive board and international policy committee of the URW would hold the "final" meeting in an effort "to settle the problem."

The URW is seeking a 16-cent hourly wage raise. The "Big Four" rubber companies have offered a 10-cent pay hike.

The "Big Four"—B. F. Goodrich, Goodyear, Firestone and U. S. Rubber—supply more than 90 per cent of all tires for automobile manufacturers.

The union, meanwhile, went ahead with strike plans. A committee of top unionists met yesterday with Akron Mayor Charles E. Slusser, the chief of police and the city's law director to discuss strike plans.

The union members assured the city that no violence was anticipated. The rubber workers' voice, the URW's first strike issue paper, carried a large headline reading "12-01 Monday is H-hour, D-day."

Requires Money To Be Cowboy In Filmland Circles

Roy Rogers Of Movie Fame Says
$8,000 Necessary, Not Counting
Trick Mount

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—It takes much moola to outfit a cowboy and stick him up that on Ol' Paint. Roy Rogers, king of Hollywood's cowboys, estimated today that you can do the trick for slightly under $8,000. That's not counting a hoss like Roy's famous Trigger, which would kite the kitty another ten grand.

So leave us consider the smaller or one-horse operator:

You can't be a genuine 18-karat range rider these days unless you're parked in a silver-mounted saddle. They set you back about $5,000.

Clothes make the cowboy, as they make any other man—broke. Shirts patterned after those of a movie hoss opera star range in price from $50 to $100.

The Stetsons cost from $25 to $50. Trousers ditto. Jackets hoist the bill another $150. And handmade boots will set you back $65.

You can count on an even $100 for a gold or silver buckle for the hand-tooled belt. Spurs cost anything you'd like to fork out, from $100 up. Chaps for the chap are $50.

And what's a cowboy without a horse?

Rogers, Republic studios' No. 1 maiticket, has been offered $10,000 for Trigger, only the outburner ain't for sale, pardner.

The gun-belt and holster, expected to last a lifetime, will set you back another $150. The six-shooters—and this will give you a bang—sell for $100. You won't find a junior cowboy who will settle for less than a brace of sidearms.

Gives Advice On Control Of Rats

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—(INS)—Winter weather has created a serious problem in rat control. Rats are seeking shelter and scavenging for food around farm homes. Gordon Mickle, extension entomologist for Colorado A. & M. college, today suggested several methods for ridding of the rodents.

He advised removing waste foods, covering garbage cans, making buildings rat-proof, and clearing possible breeding and hiding places of trash.

He recommended two rat poisons, Red Squill, a plant extract, and ANTU (Alpha-Naphthyl-thiourea), a comparatively new compound.

Rats must consume enough ANTU to kill them, or they will avoid the poison for 30 days or more. Rebait an area by using unpoisoned food to attract rats, then add poison. If this method is not successful, Mickle recommended a change of bait and poison. ANTU has little effect against house mice.

The entomologist emphasized that poisons must be kept away from children and livestock.

State Has 124 Nursing Schools

Pennsylvania Leads In Number Of Schools; 76,000 Nurses Registered Since 1909

HARRISBURG—There are 124 schools of nursing in Pennsylvania which have been approved for 1947 by the state board of examiners for registration of nurses, Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, announced today.

Pennsylvania has more schools of nursing than any other state.

That is reflected in the fact that more student nurses were admitted to training in Pennsylvania during 1946 than in any other state. There were 3,278 new students admitted to Pennsylvania's nursing schools. The nearest to this record was New York with 3,243, according to figures compiled by the National League of Nursing Education, and just received here.

Figures presented to Doctor Haas by Miss Mary A. Rothrock, secretary of the state board of examiners for registration of nurses, indicated that 76,000 nurses have been registered in Pennsylvania since registration legislation was passed in 1909.

Expect 140,000 To See Olympic Games In London

LONDON—(INS)—Over 140,000 visitors are expected to come to Britain for the Olympic Games at the Wembley Stadium and sports arena in 1948, according to estimates by English tourist agencies.

Some 6,000 of the foreign visitors are expected to come from Sweden in ships which, moored in the river Thames in the London area, will contribute towards solving the problem of accommodation.

Competitors and officials in the games will probably be housed in two Olympic villages built in the Wembley area. The British government has given the English Olympic organizing committee an assurance that this accommodation will be available.

Dates Set

Provisional dates for the games are July 29 to August 14. A dedication service with massed bands and a choir of 1,200 voices will probably be held on the first Sunday in the Wembley Stadium.

Invitations to about thirty nations to take part in the games will be sent out by the British Olympic Association in the New Year.

As the Olympic rules permit invitations only to members of the International Olympic Association with their own national associations, Germany and Japan will not receive them.

Fifty Years In G. O. P. Politics

State Senator M. Harvey Taylor Will Reach This Anniversary In June

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, March 21.—(INS)—State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, of Harrisburg, 70-year-old Republican state chairman, will swing past the 50-year mark in GOP politics on his birthday June 4 . . . the veteran Republican leader was state chairman from 1934 to 1937 and has served in the post continuously since 1940 . . . he guided the gubernatorial campaign of William A. Schenader in 1934 and lost the decision to the Democrats but was successful with Arthur H. James and Edward Martin . . . he fulfilled a long-standing ambition when he helped send Martin to the U. S. senate . . . Dauphin county Republicans tendered Taylor a testimonial dinner and presented him with a Cadillac automobile . . . the only time Taylor ever was defeated for a major post was in 1934 when he was the Republican nominee for state secretary of internal affairs.

Democratic senators twitted their Republican colleagues when the local government commission was considering a bill which would require firms handling various items including foods and coal to price-mark goods . . . Sen. Joseph M. Barr (D) Allegheny reminded the GOP majority that OPA price marking rules had been denounced by Republicans along with other controls during the campaign . . . action was delayed on the proposal.

School teachers affiliated with the CIO-Teachers' Union who met with Gov. James H. Duff to demand increased wages revealed one thing which was glaringly apparent to newsmen and the governor, although he made no comment . . . that was the surprising lack of knowledge exhibited by the teachers about the government which they looked to for financial support and which they were supposed to explain to school children . . . fundamental constitutional prohibitions against a graded income tax and use of the motor license fund for purposes other than highways apparently were unknown . . . one Philadelphian even went so far as to suggest to Duff that the motor license limitation be sidestepped by using part of the money for schools by "saying" it was for safety which was defined broadly . . . a state trooper remarked after the meeting that if the legislature granted the increases the teachers should use it to take a course in instruction in government.

The teachers' delegation, as has been true of other group of "marchers," was disorganized in presentation of its case and some members ill-advisedly associated with a known Communist who apparently was a behind-the-scenes strategist . . . Duff heard Mrs. Esther Soler, of Philadelphia, the union's lobbyist, state the case and then clearly defined his policy on higher wages . . . in brief he told them it was "for" the wage boosts but wanted to know "who was going to foot the bill and how" . . . teachers had no recommendation except to hint delicately that new taxes should not fall on them . . . Duff ran the meeting with a firm hand and it did not decline into one of the usual cat-and-dog fights so many pressure organizations love to stage.

Atomic Control Stand Of Soviet Scored By Paper

Science Bulletin Editorial
Assails Stalling Tactics
Preventing Agreement

CHICAGO, March 21.—(INS)—The stand Russia has taken on international control of atomic energy was assailed sharply today in an editorial in the bulletin of the atomic scientists.

The editorial lashed Russia for stalling tactics that to date have prevented completion of an agreement on a system of control.

The atomic scientists chided Russia for demanding the immediate destruction of atomic bombs while causing "delays or evasions" in reaching an understanding on control.

The bulletin represents the collective voice of scientists formerly employed or still engaged on atomic research for the government.

Two Interwoven

The editorial declared the two were inextricably interwoven, regardless of how the Soviet Union feels about the momentous problem.

The editorial stressed Russia's delaying tactics by pointing out that she has progressed from "outright rejection of international inspection" of industrial operations to bargaining on how extensive such inspections should be.

The bulletin stated that negotiations on atomic control "now are down to real issues," and demanded that Russia advance "to consideration of how international management can be set up without endangering her national economy." It asserted:

"It is now up to the Soviet Union to present a scheme of inspection comprehensive enough to put to rest all fears of clandestine developments." It added:

"If such a plan is offered, it should receive fair consideration. But if effective control by inspection alone proves impracticable, the Soviet Union, if she is genuinely desirous of international control . . . will have to consider international management is a less doctrinal and more practical way."

When fully equipped with emergency sustenance articles and with bladders inflated, the suit floats at an angle of 10 degrees from the vertical.

Made of closely-woven cotton twill, the suit has a circular neck bladder and a rectangular neck bladder, which can be inflated orally or by carbon dioxide cylinder at the base of the chest bladder.

Pockets for emergency sustenance articles are placed at the back of the calves to take the place of a separate kit or vest and to weigh down the legs to maintain an upright position for the wearer.

Tests showed that the suit rights itself in less than three seconds after hitting the water.

Thaddeus School
Plans For Easter

Extensive plans are being made for the commemoration of Easter at the Thaddeus Stevens Grade school on the East Side, when several programs will be presented in the school and in other public places of the city.

The school choir under the supervision of Mrs. Emma Richards, aided in the speech work by Mrs. Nancy Stevenson, is working hard on an excellent presentation which will be put on in the school on Thursday afternoon prior to dismissal for the Easter vacation. An amalgamated choir, using the Thaddeus students and the ensemble from the Ben Franklin Junior High is scheduled to present a program on Wednesday afternoon, for the aged women of the Almira Home.

Several other classes in the school under the supervision of Mrs. Myers, Miss McFate and Miss Courtney will present plays on Friday. Plans are under way for the playoffs in the interclass basketball games between the fifth and sixth grades of the school. The playoffs will be on the Franklin gym.

Music students in the school were receiving instrumental instruction on Thursday afternoon under the supervision of P. Arthur Canning, instrumental music instructor of the city schools.

John Scott Harrison, who was born in 1804, was the son of William Henry Harrison, the ninth president of the United States, and the father of Benjamin Harrison, the 23rd president.

New Flying Suit Aids Airmen Who Crash Into Water

Built-In Inflation Bladders Keep Wearer From Lying With Face In Water

DAYTON, O., Mar. 21.—(INS)—A new flying suit with built-in inflation bladders designed to keep the wearer from lying on his face in the water has been developed at Wright field.

The suit, to be used by airmen flying over water, was developed at the equipment laboratory, engineering division, air materiel command.

It incorporates the functions of three garments—the light flying suit, the life vest and the emergency sustenance vest or kit.

In this way it reduces the overall weight of flying clothing by about two pounds. The reduction is welcomed by the heavily equipped airmen operating at high altitude and at high speeds.

Maritime Academy
Closing Is Urged

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Secretary of Forests and Waters Milo F. Draemel announced today he had recommended to Gov. James H. Duff abandonment of the 58-year-old Pennsylvania Maritime academy on the Delaware river at Miles Creek, Bucks county, by May 31.

The cost of operating the state nautical school, currently accommodating only 45 of 95 assigned cadets, was "entirely out of proportion to the return received either by the cadets themselves or the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," the former admiral explained. He added the training service "duplicated a service now rendered by the Federal Maritime commission."

The cadets would be assigned to other schools operated by the federal agencies.

He said it was based on "secret" information furnished by the state department to committee members.

Marshall's Wife

Is Diplomatic

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 21.—(INS)

If Secretary of State Marshall conducts Russian negotiations with the same diplomacy and charm his wife exhibited in Atlanta today, the foreign problem is solved.

Mrs. Katherine Tupper Marshall completely captivated newsmen at her first news conference in the Atlanta home of Albert Love, publisher of her recent book, "Together".

The gracious, grey-haired lady told newsmen she would be in Moscow now if her husband said:

Sheep Flocks On Decline On Farms In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—Sheep on farms of Pennsylvania by the end of 1946 had dropped to the lowest numbers ever known, the state department of agriculture announces following the annual livestock inventory by the federal-state crop reporting service.

About 80 years ago sheep outnumbered all other species of livestock on Pennsylvania farms and for the past four years have been shrinking in numbers at the rate of about nine per cent a year, the survey revealed. The latest inventory showed only 240,000 sheep in the state, a drop of 24,000 between January 1, 1946 and January 1, 1947. The average number on farms during the 10-year period, 1936 to 1945 was 385,000. With the drop in numbers, the average value increased $3.80 to a total of $11.40 per head during the year. All sheep on farms January 1 were valued at $2,868,000, an increase of $722,000.

Community Effort Saves Town Industry

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—Community cooperation is aiding Phillipsburg to retain its largest industry, the State Department of Commerce reported today.

When fire destroyed the McLaren Sportswear corporation's plant there several weeks ago, the company announced it would be glad to rebuild on the same site if temporary quarters could be obtained to continue production during construction.

Members of the Reliance Fire company, who were sponsoring erection of a new Community building for the Centre county borough's residents, voted unanimously to offer the new Community building as a temporary factory. The building is expected to be ready for occupancy sometime this month.

The McLaren plant employed 340 persons at a payroll of $500,000 a year.

Pupil Strikers Held For Hearing

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Five alleged school-boy strike leaders were in the custody of juvenile authorities today as a result of a two-day walkout of 50 students at Pittsburgh's Gladstone high school.

Police said the youths were taken into custody pending the outcome of a "grievance" hearing today before school authorities.

School Principal Fred Glazer said the student strike was instigated by a small group of boys who complained that girl students were being given all the "breaks" in extra-curricular club activities.

Police said many of the students who failed to attend classes yesterday reported that they were threatened by groups of boys near the school entrance.

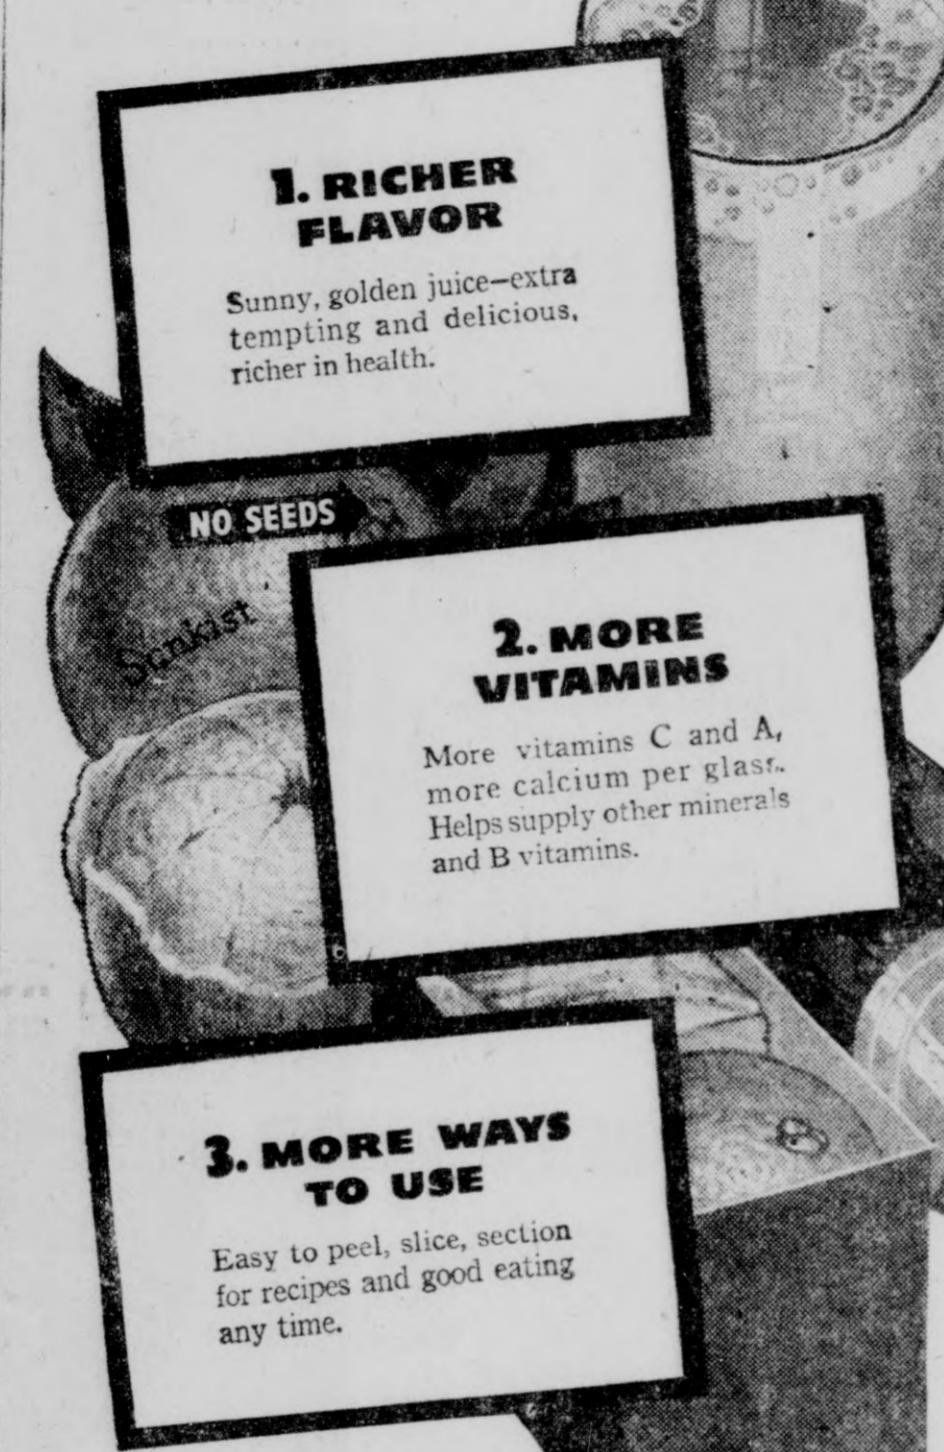

DIVORCE BILL BEATEN

DOVER, Del., Mar. 21.—(INS)—A proposed "quicke divorce" bill was beaten down today by the Delaware house of representatives.

The legislation would have reduced the present one-year waiting period for final divorce decree to three months. Its backers said the four-month waiting period causes difficulty in property settlements between husbands and wives awaiting final decrees.

Action Taken To Control Uranium
And Thorium To Prevent Possible Leaks

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Uranium and thorium, basic materials of the atomic bomb, were placed under stringent licensing system Thursday both for domestic use and exports in an effort to curb their possible use for unfriendly purposes.

The new regulations, effective midnight March 31, comprised the first order issued by the U.S. atomic energy commission. They affect primarily about 200 commercial and research firms using uranium and 200 firms employing thorium.

Specifically, the order bars further supplies for inclusion in ceramic products, photographic film, negatives or prints, and glass products generally.

Only licensees may transfer, deliver, export or receive title or possession of source materials containing as little as one-twentieth of one percent of uranium, thorium or any combination of these elements.

Any person not handling a commission license who obtains 10 pounds of raw uranium or thorium or one pound of refined source material, except for specified manufactured products, must report to the commission within 30 days.

During March, however, uranium and thorium ores containing less than ten pounds of the pure metals may be transferred or delivered.

In addition, export controls were continued over incandescent mantles, ceramic products, refractories, glass products, photographic film, negatives and prints certain rare-earth metals and compounds and vacuum tubes.

INTRODUCTIONS
How should a hostess introduce a caller who has dropped in unexpectedly when there are about nine guests in the living room? Should he be taken around the room and introduced to each guest individually? I have heard that this is not proper.

Answer: When the group is large and scattered, do not take a newcomer around the room and introduce him to each person, since this would be awkward.

After you greet him, introduce him to the few persons standing near you and later when you have an opportunity present him to the others as he happens to be near them. However, a group of nine is not too large for individual introductions, especially since they all would probably be seated near one another and sharing the same general conversation. Here is the simplest form to be used in such a situation:

"Miss Just-Arrived (pause) Miss Nearest Member of the Group. If it is Mr. Just-Arrived, he should be introduced to Miss Nearest-Member. The names of the other guests should then be given in the order in which they are standing or sitting without singling out the women first.

Question: Kindly give me information regarding gloves at an informal wedding. I shall wear a white long-sleeved floor-length gown.

Answer: Wear with your long-sleeved, floor-length dress short white gloves. While gloves at an informal wedding are optional, they do give "finish" to an ensemble. You may either slip off the left glove or have the ring finger slit so that it may be pushed back at the ring-placing in the ceremony.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

Only three persons met deaths on county highways during the months of January and February, the Bureau of Highway Safety revealed today in their comparative analysis report.

All the fatalities occurred in rural auto accidents, while there were no pedestrians killed during the period.

This year's totals shows a decrease of four deaths as compared with the first eight weeks of 1946.

EASTER EGG ROLL AT WHITE HOUSE TO BE FOREGONE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—The White House said today that because millions still are hungry in war-ravaged lands the traditional Easter egg roll on the lawn of the executive mansion again will be foregone.

The egg rolling, a time-honored part of the Easter celebration for Washington youngsters, was cancelled last year because of the food conservation program.

In comment on the decision to cancel this year's observance also, the White House social secretary said:

"Of course, no one likes to deprive children of pleasure, but when people are going hungry in various parts of the world it is foolish to use eggs for such a purpose."

The size or shape of the violin has not been changed or improved upon in three centuries.

Marshall Puts Forth Proposal For German Rule

(BULLETIN) MOSCOW, Mar. 21.—(INS)—U. S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall today proposed immediate establishment of a provisional central government as the basis for a revitalized German state in the future.

The American chief delegate to the big four council of foreign ministers said the eventual German federal government's powers must be strictly limited, while the states themselves retain "the widest possible political powers".

Secretary Marshall put forth his proposal after British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin had recommended a federalized Germany also, with the central government handling foreign affairs and economic matters.

Marshall's proposal went far beyond that of the Briton, envisaging a new German nation keyed to the political and economic stability of Europe and preservation of peace—with the German people granted a twentieth century "bill of rights" in behalf of their own interests and of the world at large.

Urge America To Develop Science Of Human Relations

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21.—(INS)—Dr. Herbert L. Spencer, president of Bucknell University, today declared that the United States must produce "engineering brains" as well as food and capital if it is to assume world leadership.

Representing Bucknell at the meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education, convened at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh, Dr. Spencer said that technical competence in engineering is not enough for global leadership. He explained:

"A knowledge of economics, for instance, might have prevented the impossible situation which has developed in Korea. An illogical division of occupational forces placed under Russian rule nearly all of the nation's industrial resources and under U. S. rule practically all of Korea's agricultural resources."

As a result, he explained, the United States is faced with the problem of industrializing its occupation zone with equipment and supplies paid for by the American taxpayer. He added:

"If we are to resolve the conflict between capital and labor, our undergraduate curriculum must place greater emphasis on human engineering—the science of human relations."

Would Appropriate Nine Million Dollars To Battle Disease

WASHINGTON

—The House appropriations committee recommended today the appropriation of nine million dollars as the United States' share in a joint program with Mexico to eradicate foot and mouth disease in Mexican cattle.

The committee said in its report to the House that "the threat to the livestock, dairy, meat packing, and related and dependent industries in the United States grows increasingly serious."

The report said the nine million dollar appropriation will enable the U. S. department of agriculture "without delay" to carry out its part of the control program in Mexico, consisting largely of the slaughter of diseased animals.

In addition, quarantine and other protective measures in the United States will be strengthened.

The appropriations committee also recommended intensification of the current Mexican-United States program to eradicate the disease in Mexico before it spreads to this country.

A federal jury today prepared to retire and consider a verdict in the trial of a former veteran federal jurist, his three sons and two other men accused of conspiring to defraud the United States and obstruct justice.

The commissioners agreed that some improvement in the South Jefferson street bridge was desirable but said it was not a state bridge, hence out of the county's hands.

Special Presiding Judge James A. M. Fee was told by Charles Marigott, counsel for ex-Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson of Lewisburg and his three sons that his defense summation would be concluded this afternoon.

Chief Prosecutor Valentine Hammack of San Francisco will offer rebuttal following Marigott's address and Fee was prepared to charge the jury tomorrow.

Melio Bettina Would Like To Meet Joe Louis For Title

Southpaw Wants Crack At Louis, Manager Reveals

Former Light-Heavyweight Champ Serious About Wanting Title Shot This June

BAKSI-WOODCOCK WINNER IS OUT

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—The proposed heavyweight championship defense by Joe Louis against the winner of London's Joe Baksy-Bruce Woodcock battle probably will never take place.

Reaction to the announcement that the title-holder had selected his June 26 opponent from between these two has been such that the 20th Century Sporting Club has begun to cast about for a substitute.

It seems likely, as reported here some time ago, that Melio Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y., the former light heavyweight champion will windup in the other corner against Louis next summer—if there is a fight.

Watch Out Melio

Jimmy Grippo, Bettina's manager, revealed today that he had launched an all-out campaign in behalf of his man and planned to carry on to the limit. Grippo pointed out:

—Louis has never met a southpaw such as Bettina happens to be.

—Louis had agreed to terms to meet Bettina before they both entered the service and automatically cancelled the match out.

—Grippo is prepared to guarantee the champion $200,000 for this shot at the title.

—The demand for the championship chance will be made under the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Woodcock Fair

Grippo, who in his spare time is a magician, insists he doesn't have to be a magician to land the summer time match for his man over Baksy and Woodcock.

Baksy has been a notorious in-and-outer throughout his career. Woodcock went 15 rounds this week in a match with some unknown Frenchman as a follow up to his being knocked out by Tami Mauriello a few months ago. Mauriello was knocked out in one round by Louis and was stopped in Boston a few nights ago.

In the latter match, Mauriello charged that he was butted and ringsiders agreed that he was in front on points at the finish. However, he was suspended by the Massachusetts boxing commission for the ruckus he created upon being declared loser.

Bettina Good Record

Grippo yesterday pointed out that Bettina lost only one bout during his amateur days in 76 starts, and has lost only five of 98 professional starts. Four of these latter losses were to light heavyweights, including Billy Conn. He has lost to only one heavyweight, Jimmy Bivins and that was while Bettina was in the service.

Every team in the league has a representation on either of the two working committees. The executive committee—Walther, Michael Babovsky and Joseph O'Leary—will serve as members of both committees in advisory capacities.

The city league will have its next meeting Thursday evening, March 27, at 7:30 o'clock at Carmi's.

ELKINS BROTHERS TO FIGHT RONZI

Guy Elisco Matched To Box Sam Santafonte Of Struthers For Boosters

Elkins Brothers, local gridders, will essay the role of aistic gladiators when the New Castle Boosters hold a boxing show March 31 in the Arena.

This was announced today by Matchmaker Tommy Leach.

Brothers has been matched to box Rizeri Ronzi of Youngstown who defeated Bob Blendinger, Pittsburgh light-heavyweight, February 25 in this city.

According to Leach, who has watched Elkins train in the Jefferson A. C., he shows promise and expects him to give Blendinger a good fight.

Another ex-gridder, Guy Elisco of the Seventh ward, has been matched to fight Sam Santafonte, of Struthers, in another battle. Elisco is rounding into condition. Guy hopes to score a knockout like he did over Dennis Middle of Meadville on November 30.

Several days ago Leach announced he had matched Tony Zanakis of Sharon who outpointed Bill Bradley, before Bradley fought Johnny Komlo in Pittsburgh, with Julius West, a good boy of Youngstown.

The New Castle Boosters have placed tickets for sale at various places in the city. They may also be obtained at the Jefferson A. C., B.P.O.E. No. 69, or from Bill Usselman or William Sands.

According to reports the card will be exceptionally good.

Diminutive Steve Greene can boast of having climbed from a completely paralyzed condition into the Nation's No. 1 rope climbing berth.

Junior Cagers In Semi-Finals

Hi-Aces Clash With East Brook; Castle Titans Gus Little Five In Battle

Four junior teams left in the city-county tourney being staged at the Y.M.C.A. floor will tangle tonight in the semi-finals, and a good crowd is expected to be on hand for the tilts.

Beginning at 7:30 the Hi-Aces, composed of New Castle High school hoopsters, will meet the East Brook team in what should be an interesting affair.

The Brookers have proved themselves the surprise of the matches, toping the Irish Juniors, 63-22, and the Shenango "V" Juniors, 26-25. The Aces have swamped the Shenango High school seniors, 48-17, and the South Side Lions reserves, 51-15, and rule as favorites to bounce the East Brook quint and advance to the finals.

Titans Meet Gus Five

In the 8:30 pairing the Castle Titans (New Castle High reserves), will square off against the dangerous Gus Little Five. The Titans had too many guns for their two opponents thus far, blasting the Sharks, 47-18, and the Yellow Jackets, 46-20. The Little Five has cruised past the Shenango Hi-Y, 47-26, and the K. Pulaski Juniors, 34-25.

Winners of tonight's struggles will meet in the championship game Monday night. Handsome prizes are waiting for the champs of the tourney, with a large trophy going to the winners and individual statuettes to the five team members.

This was announced today by Matchmaker Tommy Leach.

JUDGE OTT GETS HIS REWARD

AN ARMFUL of desert grapefruit is the gift of gratitude from shapely Doris Schaefer to Mel Ott, New York Giants manager, for helping select her as queen of the Arizona State Citrus festa in Phoenix. Doris was chosen over 52 other beauties. (International)

JOE LOUIS' new book, "My Life Story" hit the streets of New York several days ago and in it he says that "Max Schmeling was the only fighter I was ever really mad at." Schmeling, it will be recalled, kayoed Joe in the twelfth round of their first fight, June 16, 1936, by smashing Joe with rights to the head everytime Louis made the mistake of dropping his left after jabbing twice with it. Here Max also helped his own cause by landing a terrific right to the chin after the bell had ended the fifth round. On June 22, 1938, they had their return bout, in which Louis was risking his title he had won from James J. Braddock in 1937. Joe was determined to beat Schmeling—if it was the last thing I ever did." Schmeling had called him an amateur, and a gunshy guy who would be afraid of his right hand." He was also bragging about knocking me out in five rounds" Joe says. Louis warmed up for 40 minutes in the dressing room at the stadium, instead of the usual 10. Joe knocked him out in the first round, flooring him three times. Once, Joe sent a right to Maxie's midsection and "when it landed, he squealed like a stuck pig. From the way he hollered I figured he was hurt and I knew I had him. I was happy over that victory for I felt I had gotten revenge over the one fighter who had done me wrong."

Will Be Different

"We'll stop these stars Sunday," says Coach Henry "Hank" Koszela, Falcon coach. Chinkie Dutkin and George "Pop" Adams will make a big difference in our attack.

It has been announced that the prices for the Sunday game will be lowered. Another packed Arena is indicated as the teams square off again in their heated rivalry battle.

While on the other hand the Pulaskis feel that the series will end this coming Sunday. "We can do it again," Coach Al Gonet said. He referred to the 57-39 shellacking he handed the Falcons last week.

Met Miz Dart, former griddler, at the Elks. What a griddler he was! In our estimation, he was one of the best of linemen. . . . Jim McGivern and Rube Kennedy turned in such a neat job as boxing judges Here & There has recommended them for advancement to seats at The Arena. . . . There was a father and son act in connection with the show. George (Dad) Patterson, who was the chairman of the Evening's Evenin', was one of two announcers (Harry Harris being the other) and his son, Bob was timekeeper. . . . Ralph Dart took time out from eating a fish sandwich to explain the good points of his two dachshunds, or sausage shaped dogs. There are not many of this breed hereabouts. . . . Bill Fletcher of the Beaver Valley came up for the show. . . . Mayor John F. Haven had a good seat, having arrived early. . . . Ill luck trots behind Joe Rick, local horseman. First they rob his safe and an auto wrecks his car. . . . The "bou" between Yankee Payley and Joe Blow was comedy. Their act would go good in The Arena. . . . Tommy Leach made the swell matches. . . . Representative William E. Kohl, R. Wilkes-Barre, has introduced a measure in the state house of representatives requiring school districts to take out insurance for football and basketball players. In Here & There's opinion the bill should pass. . . . The state senate is prepared to pass a bill to increase the resident fishing license fee from $1.50 to $2 a year, with half of the increase ear-marked for purchase of additional fishing waters, building of dams and a study of better angling methods. It is authored by O. J. Tallman of Allentown. . . . There were more fried fish in the Elks club Wednesday night than there are live fish in the Slippery Rock creek.

Robinson Takes Cleveland Bout

Sugar Ray Agrees To Title Fight At Cleveland With Kapilow-Doyle Winner

CLEVELAND, Mar. 21.—(D.N.S.) Matchmaker Larry Atkins of Cleveland reported today that Ray Robinson, world welterweight boxing champion, has agreed to defend his title in Cleveland May 26 against the winner of the Danny Kapilow-Jimmy Doyle bout Monday.

Atkins, who completed the deal by long-distance telephone, said Robinson has been guaranteed $25,000 with a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate. The challenger will get 20 per cent of the gross.

Manager Beams

Al Weill, manager of Kapilow, the hard-hitting Brooklynite, was pleased when he heard the news and predicted that his fighter would regain the title for him.

"I have had three champions of various weights—Marty Servo, Lou Ambers and Joey Archbold—and Kapilow will be my fourth one. Mr. Robinson, I think, is ready to be taken to the cleaners," Weill opined.

Paul Doyle, manager of Los Angeles Jimmy, revealed that he had received an offer to send Doyle to Cleveland but said he would prefer to have his fighter meet the "Sugar" in Cleveland.

K. Pulaskis Win Opener At Hubbard

Defeat Hubbard Sandwiches Thursday In Opening Round Game 53-12

K. Pulaski "Big Five" basketball team breezed through the opening round of the Hubbard Tourney last night, lambasting the Hubbard Sandwiches 53 to 12 with Carl Jameson, Joey Cooper and John Zubkowsky starring. The Gonet coached team held a 30 to 6 lead the first-half. The Hubbard team failed to score in two periods, the second and third.

Tonight the Pulaskis return to Hubbard at 10 o'clock meeting the strong Sharon Coal and Ice team, with all K. P. players to meet at the club here at 9 o'clock. Coach Gonet announced.

Manager Beams

Al Weill, manager of Kapilow, the hard-hitting Brooklynite, was pleased when he heard the news and predicted that his fighter would regain the title for him.

"I have had three champions of various weights—Marty Servo, Lou Ambers and Joey Archbold—and Kapilow will be my fourth one. Mr. Robinson, I think, is ready to be taken to the cleaners," Weill opined.

Paul Doyle, manager of Los Angeles Jimmy, revealed that he had received an offer to send Doyle to Cleveland but said he would prefer to have his fighter meet the "Sugar" in Cleveland.

Bronze, Falcons In Benefit Game

Johnson Bronze basketball team will battle the Polish Falcons tonight at the Ben Franklin High floor in a benefit, it was announced for John Schooley who broke his ankle a few weeks ago playing basketball. The main game tonight will start at 8 o'clock with a 7 o'clock preliminary arranged.

A good game is anticipated with the Falcons using this game as a means of keeping in shape for the Sunday battle at the Arena with the Pulaskis. The J.-B. will have a strong team on the floor and will give the Falcons a real tussle.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Mar. 21.—Ken Yount of Kittanning and Bob Gehrett, Lewistown, both top-flight baseball pitchers a year ago, will be available for mound duty at Penn State again this season. Art Hubbard, Frackville southpaw and wartime hurler, also will be on hand.

Legion Junior League Will Get Start Next Week

Team Representatives Asked To Assemble For Preliminary Meeting In Legion Home

Indications point to another junior baseball season for the junior teams of the city under the sponsorship of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, with several new teams having made inquiries about joining the league this year.

A Wesley Mann, Jr., has been appointed chairman for junior baseball by the Gaston post, and has called a meeting of team managers and representatives for Thursday evening, March 27, at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion Home.

Plans for the season will be discussed, the regulations of the league will be explained and arrangements will be made for the opening of the season.

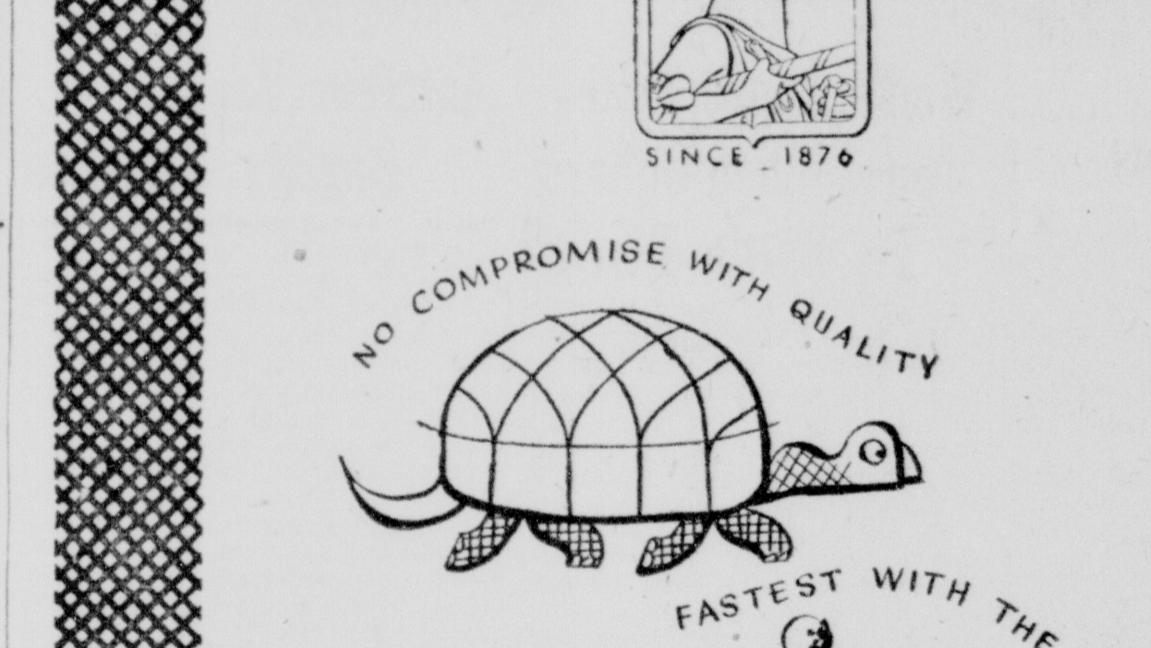

Perry S. Gaston post has sponsored a junior league here for a number of years, and some fast young players have been developed by the league who have made their way into faster company.

Among those signed up by the big leagues have been the Liebendoerfer brothers and Chuck Tanner, while Bill Andrews has just returned from Florida where he was looked over by the Giants. However, Bill wants to finish college before he goes in for faster company. He could have played with the Erie team of the Middle Atlantic league, but he has decided to remain out of pro ball this summer.

Many others are playing on semi-pro teams in the district who got their start in Legion junior baseball.

Sutherland Looks For Steelers To Be Tough In Fall

Dr. Sutherland Feels Two All-Americans Mastrangelo-Bechtol Will Help Out

PLANS TO STRESS PASSING ATTACK

By JIMMY JORDAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21.—It's been a long time since the Pittsburgh Steelers have cut much of a swath through the ranks of the National Football League.

But, all things being equal, Dr. John B. (Jock) Sutherland, et al., figure to do so next autumn. The eminent ex-dentist to whom winning victories most always is harder than pulling teeth, is going all-out for a winning team in 1947. He's had his scouts beating the bushes throughout the country, and already has come up with the signatures of 14 college stars.

These, he hopes, will give him what he needs to field the kind of team he wants.

Hopes To Do Better

Last fall he tossed a bombshell into the rest of the league's ranks by winning five games and tying another in an 11-game schedule. That was his first year with the Steelers.

"That's all history," he said. "I hope we can do better next fall."

Naturally, Jock—like all Steeler fans—bemoans the loss of Bill Dudley, sparkplug of his first Pittsburgh eleven. But he's still optimistic he can find replacements among the rookies to fill in for the league's leading ground gainer.

From the list of those signed, he expects to build more strongly down the middle. Of the 14, five are backs and four are centers.

He doesn't plan to deviate from the single wingback—with variations that he used so successfully at Pitt, and which caught most of the rest of the pro league off balance last fall.

Seeks Passing Attack

"We didn't have much of a passing game last fall because the material wasn't suited for it," he said. "We'd like to have that phase play a bigger part in our offense. Perhaps we can work up a passing game with the new material we have."

Then he added:

"Fundamentals still will be stressed. We won games last fall on fundamentals alone—blocking and tackling. Fundamentals will be the basis of our next team, regardless of attack."

Two All-Americans

Among those already signed, best known are the two All-Americans—Johnny Mastrangelo, a guard from Notre Dame, and Hubert Bechtol, an end from Texas.

But Jock has plenty of confidence in the rest of his rookies which include:

Larry Bruno, Geneva, Dan Goens, Colorado College, Joe Lastic, Moorhead, Minn., Teachers, Paul Davis, Oberling and Ohio State, and Paul Weaver, Penn State, backs; Frank Sinkovitz, Duke, John Medd, Wesleyan, Ralph Jenkins, Clemson, and Paul Adams, Moorhead centers; Bill Moore, Penn State, a tackle, and Bert Vandercluert, Wesleyan, a guard, among others.

Teamed with such veterans as Tony Bova, Chuck Cherundolo, Merlin Condit, Bill Garnaas, Val Jansante, Steve Lach, Charlie Seabright, Andy Tomasic, and others, he may have a troublesome club at that.

Forbid Soviets

To Marry Aliens

LONDON, Mar. 21.—(INS)—From now on, no Soviet citizen can marry a foreigner.

At least, so said a Reuters dispatch from Moscow today.

It stated that a decree of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet published by the "Gazette of the Supreme Soviet" had placed a ban on marriages between Soviet citizens and aliens.

Duquesne High, Peabody Facing Tough Opponents

Little Dukes' Clash With Dangerous Westmont; Highlanders Meet Bradford

Duquesne and Peabody cagers face high hurdles tonight as the PIAA regional warfare reaches the semi-finals in the class "A" bracket.

Coach Bill Lemmer's Dukans will return to the Pitt pavilion where they scored an earlier triumph over Alquippa to cap the WPIAL District 7 crown, and tangle with Westmont high, District 6 titlist.

The suburban Johnstown passers threw a monkey-wrench into Altoona's titular machinery Monday night by upsetting the Mountain Lions, 60-46, and loom as a rugged test for the mouth-passing Dukes.

This is Westmont's initial regional fray and they are anxious to eliminate the WPIAL title-holders.

Bradford-Peabody

District fans will converge on Farrell high's court tonight as Peabody, District 8 crown-wearers, engage Bradford of District 9, who drew a bye in the first round tussle.

The Highlanders nipped Titusville, 32-30, Monday night at the Pitt floor to advance and will be meeting stern opposition in the northern quint.

Regional final for the west will probably be played Friday night. Site for the game has not yet been decided.

J. Elwood Ludwig today was slated to become athletic director and head football and basketball coach at Pennsylvania Military college.
